Discouragement

Brian Tipps

Everyone has been and will be discouraged. It is a real and evident part of living that touches the core of who we are, how we feel, and what we believe. We experience highs and lows. We enjoy great seasons that are abundantly positive, and we endure disappointing times that feel immensely negative. The issue is not if, but when.

Discouragement is a test. How will we respond? Are we going to let our thoughts and emotions paralyze us from continuing to live with faith and do good? What we do in these critical moments is largely determined by our beliefs about God regarding what we sow. Paul encourages Christians to not grow weary, and not give up, because in due season we will reap the harvest of blessings.

Every day we will not see the results. Since it isn't always harvest time, we have to trust the spiritual law of sowing and reaping. This will prevent Satan's efforts every time! Discouragement is Satan's way of killing our calling so slowly we won't realize we're dying. If you currently find yourself in a discouraged season of life, don't permit Satan's schemes to erode your faith, calling, purpose, and ultimate relationship with Christ!

Reflection: No matter the earthly circumstance and discouragement, do not give up!
